

Explore Washington with the DC Circulator

The Circulator is an affordable public bus service that travels throughout Washington, DC. It is owned by the District Department of Transportation.

6 Distinct Routes

Connect to DC hot spots including The National Mall, Georgetown, Union Station, Navy Yard-Ballpark, and The National Zoo

Only
$1
Per Trip

Discounts for seniors, DC students and children under 5

Runs Every

10 Minutes

Service hours available on our website and in our brochure

Pay with a SmarTrip® Card

- One per rider
  - FREE two-hour transfers to other buses
  - Use on Metro rail, Metro bus and more
  - Purchase online, at any Metro Rail Station and at National Parks book stores
- *Or pay cash with exact change

Look for the Red Circulator Flag

All stops are marked with the flag. All flags display the route name(s), stop number and a customer service phone number for your convenience

Exploring the National Mall

The DC Circulator National Mall route is an easy way to visit monuments and museums along The National Mall. While not a tour bus, the National Mall route serves 15 stops, starting at Union Station and reaching major destinations such as the Jefferson and Lincoln Memorials, the White House, and Smithsonian museums. The same policies and rules apply as with the rest of the routes, including free 2-hour transfers with the use of a SmarTrip® card.

Maps and Information

Found on dccirculator.com and in brochures on board Circulator buses

Connect with DC Circulator

@dccirculator
@dc_circulator
facebook.com/dccirculator
dccirculator.com

